Things To Do - People to See

Gallery Review

By Adrienne Emmering

The Valley Art Gallery

The Valley Art Gallery is located at 1661 Botelho Drive, Suite 110, Palm Court, in Walnut Creek. The Gallery is a small, intimate viewing space, containing masses of watercolors, oils, graphics, and pottery. Also on hand are jewelry items, household items, and sculpture.

A few standouts - "Fall's Light", a large watercolor by Arlynn Bloom. The composition features vivid autumn colors and large, full autumn leaves.

Another nice piece "Nature's Gift", a large rhyolite sculpture by Michael Rizza. This is an amazing achievement for an artist who is, in fact, legally blind. This work is a large, abstract piece, with an intricate beige striped pattern, interspersed with reddish swirls.

Lots of jewelry and small things on hand. You might find the space small, but it is elegant and full of intriguing things to see (and buy).

One side area has an installation of large, movable panels filled with art. This expands the Gallery's reach considerably. Worth a visit to Walnut creek.
